WILL MAKE SURVEY OF CANADIAN PORTS

SIR ALEXANDER GIBB ENGAGED TO STUDY PROBLEMS & ADVISE

HALIFAX, Canada—A general survey of the principal Canadian ocean ports—Halifax, Saint John, Quebec, Montreal and Vancouver—is to be undertaken by an expert on the subject. The Dominion Government has invited Sir Alexander Gibb, world-famous British port authority and former director-general of civil engineering to the British Ministry of Transport, to study on the ground the technical and business features of these ports with a view to developing a general plan of operation which will increase their efficiency and further their progress. Sir Alexander will come to Canada shortly on this important mission.

Explaining the object of the Government named Hon. Alfred Durnan, Dominion Minister of Marine, said that primarily economy was back of the scheme. Her ocean ports were vital links in Canadian development and it was essential that they be administered with the greatest possible degree of efficiency and on sound business principles. Sir Alexander Gibb, he explained would survey the whole situation and was expected to produce a general plan for Canadian ports calculated to improve the service they are intended to render the Canadian people. At the same time each port would be given individual advice on measures which should be taken to improve administrative conditions and to strengthen its strategic position in the world of trade and commerce.

The twenty-first annual convention of the Alberta educational association will be held in Edmonton during the Easter week school vacation. The main speaker this year will be Dr. Ludwig Mueller, a distinguished scholar and writer.

SPIRIT OF ADVENTURE STILL PERSISTS IN R.C.M.P.

OTTAWA—One branch of Canada's public service at least suffers from no lack of recruits and figures just published showing the number of applicants for enrolment in the Royal Canadian Mounted Police indicate this colorful corps maintains its attraction for the robust and adventurous youth of the nation.

For 156 places vacated through retirement and so forth in the Royal Mounted last year 2,807 young men offered themselves. This was an increase of about 600 aspirants over the numbers seeking enrolment in 1929.

CANADIAN MINISTER TO U.S. A SURPRISE

MAJOR W. D. HERRIDGE WAS LITTLE KNOWN THROUGHOUT DOMINION

OTTAWA, Canada—The appointment of Major W. D. Herridge, D.S.O., M.C., K.C., as Canadian minister to the United States, came as a surprise to most people and a departure from precedent in such matters. Major Herridge has taken no active part in public life or political affairs, never has held an elective office, never has been identified with a political party. Three years ago he became an intimate friend of Mr. R. B. Bennett, then leader of the Conservative Opposition. Last year he went with Mr. Bennett through the national campaign which brought about a change of government. In the fall he accompanied Mr. Bennett, then Prime Minister, to the Imperial Conference in the role of a confidential adviser and this winter went with him to Washington in a similar capacity.

Major Herridge is 43 years old, a wealthy widower, whose father for many years was one of the most eminent ministers of the Presbyterian Church in Canada. He served with the Canadian forces throughout the Great War and then returned to Ottawa to take up the practice of the law. He is credited with a considerable acquaintance with American public men and hence a high degree of tact and charm, and a natural ability which will go far to overcome his inexperience in public affairs.

As existing Canadian diplomatic posts now are filled, with ministers in Paris, Tokyo and Washington, and a High Commissioner in London.

The annual "At Home" of the local lodge of Oddfellows will this year take the form of a dance, and this will be held in the theatre on Wednesday, April 15th commencing at 8.30 p.m. All are invited and a good time is promised. Of course the usual good supper is included with the ticket.

Mrs P. Springer, who has been visiting relatives at Wetaskiwin returned home last week.

Sympathies to Cons. K. Shakespear, who is a patient at the hospital with an attack of tonsillitis.

UNIVERSAL INCOME TAX IS PROPOSED

CANADIAN PROVINCE WARNED IT HAS BEEN LEAVING BE- YOND MEANS

VICTORIA, Canada—Under a Budget brought down in the British Columbia Legislature by Mr J. W. Jones Minister of Finance for the Province a new income tax of one per cent will be levied on the total income of all persons in the province excepting only those who receive less than $12 per week, those receiving mother's pensions old age pensions, war disability pensions and allowances and those whose income is derived from actual farming. The levy it is estimated will produce $2,500,000 a year. It will be imposed in addition to the ordinary and federal income tax imposts.

Mr Jones told the Legislature that British Columbia since the War has been living far beyond her income, piling up deficits and borrowing money to pay running expenses, until the time had come when the financial structure must be rebuilt from the ground up. He said 75 per cent of the Government's revenue went for expenditures over which it had no control, and that increased taxation was necessary to close the gap between expenditures and receipts.

The Government's plan is meeting heavy fire, not only from the official Liberal Opposition but from Labor bodies. However in the Legislature the Conservatives under Premier S. F. Tolmie held 35 seats out of 48 and their will is likely to prevail.

NO NATURAL ANIMAL LIFE IN BERMUDA

Passengers arriving on St Patrick's Day, at Hamilton, Capital of Bermuda, were greeted with the fact that Ireland is not the only island in the world which is snakeless. The British colony of Bermuda harbours not a single snake. More than that there is no natural animal life of any kind save human beings and the domestic animals which they have raised in their tropical paradise. Curiously, too, there is no natural bird life. Not even seagulls, it is claimed are ever sighted around this group of coral islands.

Mr and Mrs Paul Chartier, of Turner Valley, are here on a visit to friends in this district.

DEKAR GROTTO MEMBERS AGAIN MAKE MERRY

Another pleasant evening was staged by the members of the Dekar Grotto on Friday last, when some fifteen tables were played at cards in their progressive whist series. The prize winners for the evening were Mrs W. Younger and Mrs Lee and Messrs Nordstrom and Kidd, while in the "knock-out" competition Miss K. Horne and Mrs Trimble gained success. At the close of the play, after a delicious lunch had been partaken of, a few hours of dancing were indulged in by those present.

SUPREME COURT BACKS ALTA. UTILITIES BOARD

GAS COMPANY'S APPEAL NOT SUSTAINED BY DECISION OTTAWA TRIBUNAL

NEW GAS RATE STAYS LEGALITY OF THE RATE FOR WAINWRIGHT UTILITY IS NOW CONFIRMED

The appeal which was taken by the Wainwright Gas Co. against the rate struck by the Alberta Utilities Board, whereby the price of gas was lowered from 45 cents to 35 cents per 1,000 feet, has been dismissed by the Supreme Court of Canada, at Ottawa, which body has rendered a decision confirming the judgment of the Supreme Court of Alberta confirming the rate, as struck and which has recently been in force.

The finding of the Supreme Court sustains the action of the Board of Utilities Commissioners of Alberta in taking into account surpluses of the Wainwright Gas Company in fixing the rate to be charged.

The rate was set by the Commissioners, after having taken cognizance of three years' surpluses earned by the company.

It was sustained by the Supreme Court of Alberta, and the Gas Company then carried the case on appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada, and this court has now given its verdict in favor of the rate adopted by the Utilities Board, thus confirming the 35c. rate.

CARD OF THANKS

To the residents of Wainwright and district—I wish to express my deepest and sincere appreciation of your sympathy and practical help extended toward me in my recent bereavement; your many acts of kindness have been written indelibly in my memory, which even time will never erase. To the nursing staff of the hospital, I thank you all for the valuable service rendered to my dear wife and myself; a service I can never repay, but I accept it with a meek and humble heart and with the assurance that nothing was left undone.

SEEK CHANGES IN HAIL INSURANCE

HAIL BD. ELECTS THREE NEW DIRECTORS AT GATHERING LAST WEEK

CALGARY—Three new directors were elected to the Hail Insurance Board of Alberta at the afternoon session in the Palliser hotel on Wednesday.

Numerous changes in the Hail Insurance Act of the province were proposed by the convention and will be forwarded to the provincial legislature for approval. They are, in the main, a change in the basis of representation at the annual meeting; power to recognize claims under certain conditions; although the application had not been received at head office; right to set maximum indemnity per acre; power to refuse any application; a deductible policy, provided the same privilege is given line companies; granting insurance when the applicant is in arrears for one year only. This will not necessarily be the preceding year as the regulation now is.

The members also asked the right to have deducted from the claim a sufficient amount to protect the premium for the current year, and also authority to set aside certain areas which shall not come under the act relating to the fixing of the rate nor the payment of the indemnity, but which shall have a fixed rate. If the amount raised is not sufficient to pay the losses in the full, they shall be pro-rated.

MAIL REFUNDS ON MOTOR LICENSES

EDMONTON—Car license refund cheques are going out from the provincial secretary's department and the provincial treasury at the rate of about a 1,000 a day, and the last of the 23,000 refunds is likely to be made early in April, according to officials in charge of this work.

In the neighborhood of 40,000 licenses have already been purchased the latter 17,000 being at the reduced rate. Meanwhile, a staff of clerks is busy refunding the $15,000 to automobile owners who bought their 1931 license plates before this tax reduction was announced.

Mr E. E. Tory was in hospital last week for a slight operation to his throat. He has now recovered.

SPLENDID CAST IN "UNTAMED"

FIRST JOAN CRAWFORD TALKIE GOES FROM JUNGLE TO NEW YORK

Important film names are in the cast of "Untamed" the first Joan Crawford talking picture which will be at the theatre this week.

Willard Mack, the playwright, made such a success with the talking version of "Madame X" that he was assigned to do the talking screen story of "Untamed."

Robert Montgomery, one of Broadway's most brilliant young actors comes to the lead after being featured in "So This Is College," his first talking film. Young curly-haired possessed of a punch in both hands, and a smile, Montgomery is rated as one of the most promising "new faces" to be brought into pictures.

Holmes Herbert, Torrence's pal in the picture, made a name for himself in "The Thirteenth Chair" and as Florio's friend in "Madame X."

Owen Lee, beautiful slim blonde of M-G-M, has the greatest part of her career as "Marge" the "other girl."

John M. Hylan follows dirty villains with drier ones. Perhaps he has never had a more despicable role than that of "Bennock" in "Untamed."

Joan Crawford has in "Untamed" the strongest characterization so far ever given her.

ST. PATRICK'S IS PROPERLY CELEBRATED

MEMBERS OF THE TOWN BAND RESPONSIBLE FOR GAY TIME LAST WEEK

In a very prettily decorated theatre on the "divine" of Ireland the members of the Town Band staged a truly enjoyable night of dancing, and their efforts most certainly deserved a far larger patronage than was accorded the affair (owing no doubt to the number of counter attractions for the same auspicious evening).

The bandboys did themselves proud in several of the dance numbers, especially in the more stately figure dances on the programme, and for the balance of the terpsichore the Elita orchestra put on the toe-ticking music until a late (or early) hour.

At midnight a splendid lunch was served to those present, the bandmen's ladies being responsible for this pleasing and delectable part of the night's festivities and at the close all voted it a "real topping affair."

A quiet little wedding was solemnized at the United Church, parsonage at 3 p.m. on Monday last, March 23, when the pastor Rev W. Huston, united in wedlock Miss Freda Jane Spencer, and Mr William R. Marshall. Both the contracting parties are residents of Ribstone, and only immediate friends were present.

CROSS-CANADA MOTOR TRIP PROVES FAILURE

Returning from an unsuccessful attempt to cross Canada by motor car Healy F. Needham has reached Halifax via the Canadian National Railway. The venture came to grief when the car which he was driving overturned in the Lake Nipigon region in Ontario just forty miles from the point where a forest trail would have led him to the prairie country. He is still convalescing from broken ribs and an attack of pleurisy contracted at the time of the accident. Mr Needham intends to remain in Nova Scotia. His wife and family are at present residing in Montreal.

SPENCER SAYS SPEECH IS HOLLOW MOCKERY

FEDERAL MEMBER DEMANDS INQUIRY INTO DESTITUTION PRAIRIE FARMERS

The necessity of having a complete examination of the facts relating to the distress prevalent in certain parts of Canada, was emphasized in the House of Commons when H. E. Spencer (U.F.A. Battle River) continued the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne.

When one considered the bankrupt condition of Western Canada, the suffering, starvation and hardship, Mr Spencer said, the references to agriculture in the speech from the throne seemed a "hollow mockery."

Mr Spencer suggested so far as the government was concerned it was a case of "Nero fiddling while Rome burned." Prices for oats and rye in Alberta had been so low that they were not worth cutting.

He gave a vivid description of rural conditions out west. If they were to be any worse he said, "then God help us." While they were bad enough in Alberta, he really believed after visiting Saskatchewan that that province had the edge on his. Ruling prices were given to show that products of mixed farming were a way down. Butter was said to sell for fifteen cents a pound eggs from eight to fifteen. As to the basic commodity of grain, the price was such that some didn't bother to cut it and when they did and paid their expenses, there was nothing left.

Mr Spencer is weak of voice but he put all the pep he could muster into what he said about the banks, which was plenty. His charge was that they didn't want to give credit at all those in distress, but that when they did they gave it grudgingly in small amounts, with a warning to the borrower to preserve silence lest there be an undesirable influx of others seeking like accommodation.

To this was added the charge that the interest was exorbitant and the figure mentioned 8 or 9 per cent—was described as illegal. He warmly commended the minister of agriculture, Mr Weir, for having the courage to speak out. Alberta retailers had forty millions of credit to farmers on their books and for them the going was very heavy. Mr Spencer advocated an international conference, Russia included, to try and stabilize the wheat prices and he also subscribed to Mr Coote's theory of depreciating the currency and getting away from the gold standard.

TORONTO SYMPHONY HOUR NEXT SUNDAY

WILL FEATURE TWO OF THE WORLD'S GREATEST COMPOSERS

Two of the most popular numbers among radio audiences, representing two of the most popular composers will be played by the Toronto Symphony orchestra Sunday afternoon, March 29 and carried from Halifax to Vancouver by the Canadian National chain of stations. The programme will begin with Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night's Dream" overture and will close with the "Nutcracker"—"Chasse Noisette"—suite by Tchaikowsky. During the afternoon the orchestra will also be heard in the beautiful Bocherini minuet.

Because they appear on the same programme, it is interesting to compare Tchaikowsky and Mendelssohn, although no two men ever had lives more unlike. They had the common bond of music and kindly nature, but Mendelssohn it has been said with truth, was idiosyncratic in his cradle with Titania, the Queen of the Fairies, whom he celebrated in his enchanting overture, and his name, Felix, was significant of his happy life. He was fastidious, accomplished and full of grace; the son of rich parents; he was surrounded by music and culture Tchaikowsky, on the other hand, had a life full of struggle and despair, although he, too, was richly rewarded with fame before he died. He was seven years old when Mendelssohn's little life closed. In his music, difficulties met him at every step. It cannot be said that he was a happy man. He had moods of delight, nevertheless, and the "Nutcracker" comes from one of these.

ICE WATER BOAT GOES 80 MILES PER HOUR

A novel ferry boat which speeds over the frozen waters of the St. Lawrence when conditions demand, or rides the waves in milder weather pines between Brockville and Morris town. The ferryboat has a hydroplane appearance and is driven by an airplane propeller, which in turn is powered by a Chevrolet motor. On the ice it is capable of attaining a speed of 80 miles an hour and it sails merrily along at 15 miles on water.

CITY VS. COUNTRY

One reason the city newspaper man can "print" all the news, that is fit to print, is because he does not have to live in close daily associations with his victims as does the country paper man. Another reason is because he has no opportunity for close up views of results of prying into intime's personal affairs and laying them bare to public gaze. It is no excuse to say the public demands such things. All of us want to know lots of things that are none of our business—National Printer Journalist.

BUFFALO TRAILS

(By E. (Bud) Cotton)

"The outfit was quite unconcerned when overhauled and questioned. Didn't they know that they were breaking the law by shooting in the Park? No. Did they not read the sign at the gate? No. They had just driven over a hundred miles to see the buffalo and had brought the shot gun along as they had heard the buffalo might charge the car. 'Just shoot the old guy up in the air once in a while, anyway' was Uncle Joshua's defence as I took all the shells he had and let the party go, promising that they'd know better next time."

"Another nervous party travelling through by motor happened to drive through quite a herd of buffalo. The buffalo got scared, bunched and ran, the same direction as the car; some in front and some on the sides and rear of the now thoroughly frightened visitors. If they had slowed the car or stopped all the buffalo would have disappeared in a cloud of dust. But no the driver stepped on the gas and the race was on. As you know, the main trail through the Park has an Oriental switch back road, backed off the map when it comes to curves, 'S' turns and Dippy Dips. Imagine a rattled driver trying to negotiate it at about 50 per.

Rocking and bouncing over the bumps, careening around curves fully convinced that the escorting retinue of buffalo were sudden death, and life, hope and salvation depended on getting to the main gate of the Park—some ten miles away—just as fast as the gas goddell could get there. Did they make it? No. They piled up at a particularly sharp curve. Busted glass and various contusions; luckily no one seriously hurt. The buffalo drifted over the hills unconscious of all the excitement they had stirred up. Maybe there was one or two of them that figured they had been stung by a large bee or something. Why so? Well, one of the occupants of the car in a fit of desperation had pulled his gun—a huge affair of 22 calibre—and had emptied it into the bunch of buffalo in a desperate Desmond effort to stay inevitable doom."

"Were they really in danger? No, of course not. Leave the buffalo alone and there is no danger in motoring through the Park, but that accident coupled with a few similar fabrications circulated by nervous drivers who misunderstood the buffalo's intention when he shook his head at them have caused all sorts of alarming yarns regarding motoring in the Park."

"Time and again we meet visitors at the gates who, having heard stories are a little timid on entering. We assure them that everything is O.K. but not to go wandering around on foot. Some thank you for the advice and assurance, others look scornful and trump your ace by telling you of a friend of theirs who knew a man who was chased clear across the Park (that is 18 or 20 miles) by a whole herd of buffalo bulls. What can a fellow say? They are so emphatic that someone is lying that it is not them or their friend either, and they have that 'you can't fool me' expression in their eye as they drive away. It's awfully hard to get the gun-toter to leave his gun at home or to get it sealed at the gates. Stopping cars and finding guns in them, unsealed gives a Warden an exceptional line of excuses to listen to and he meets some funny humans.

"One guy after being stopped and an unsealed pump gun found in the car got hostile and said that he had not any time to stop and bother about sealing, no man had any right to stop him and he'd see some of the Government officials the next time he was in Ottawa. He asked the Warden's name and carefully put it down in his little note book. Never carry the gun loaded anyway, want to look at it? 'Sure,' I said. 'Want to seal it?' So this guy grabs the gun off the back of the seat and 'BANG' away she goes and the UNLOADED gun emptied a charge of buck shot into the scenery. Crestfallen and apologetic Mr. Man gets his gun sealed and drifts on up the trail muttering to himself while I scratched my head and wondered just how the scenery would be looking now if that gun muzzle had been a few inches lower."

Poachers and Pot Hunters

"Of all the ornery cusses there are the worst but thank the powers that be they are few. When the hunting season is in full swing in the fall is the time these guys show up. I'll admit it's a great temptation to those who want easy venison and don't lose any sleep over the ethics of sportsmanship. You see we have over a hundred miles of boundary fence and for some reason known only to themselves some of our 3,000 odd Deer persist in parading along these boundary fences at this time of year. I have seen anywhere from one to twenty of these animals sedately strung out head to tail meandering along the line fence through the hills. Easy meat for the guy who wants to take a chance, for the deer in here are car wise and not gun shy. Passable trails parallel the main fence on the outside, so it is easy for a poacher to motor along or lie doggo along the trail, knock down his venison steak and get away. Sometimes though, he doesn't knock him down and the wounded deer beats it away into the Park and we either find it dead or dying. Why don't we catch him? Well we try anyway. We most always ride inside the Park on patrol Two or three miles to the south comes the crack of a rifle. It takes some time to travel that distance on the saddle. Perhaps you see the car perhaps you don't, but even if you do you have a fat chance of catching it once they open up; often wish I had a motorcycle, I think I'd see more of the poachers than a derisive hand wave then."

"One party strung a wire about 7 ft. high in an opening between the fence and brush, figuring that the Warden would come that way. Some decoy shots brought him right but he was keeping to the brush for cover and missed getting wire-topped. Wire-topped? Yes! Did you ever run into Mother's clothes line when you were a kid? The same thing happens if you run into a wire, neck high on a horse, only you are more liable to break that thing that holds your head on your shoulders instead of putting a kink into it. However, the poachers don't get away with very many deer as 99 per cent of the people do everything in their power to help us maintain the Reserve as a game sanctuary."

Bone Pile Valley

"Come on, we'll ride over and I'll show you the remains of an old Indian winter camp grounds. It is the only one left in the West that I know of. See that round topped butte in the heel of that horseshoe shaped valley? Thickly dotted over its floor are piles of cracked bones of buffalo and deer. Each pile of bones and its bunch of fire cracked cooking stones marks where an Indian hunting lodge stood years ago. Must have been hundreds of them. How many animals each pile of bones represents would be hard to say, but you'll have to admit that the Indian was a mighty hunter with a voracious tummy. Sure, we have found quite a few souvenirs, iron hatchet heads, rusty knives and stone hammers. Visitors? No. Nobody seems interested and it is off the main trail and not advertised. There it lies just as it did a century or so ago, visited only by the wondering buffalo and deer. I spend hours in this old valley trying to visualize the scenes that it has known. I often wonder what would have happened to a white man if he had loped down the valley and into the camp in those distant days. Think his scalp would have decorated some brave's lance, or would they have handed him a broiled buffalo steak? Some day I hope someone will bring this old valley to life again as I'm sure there are thousands of Canadians deeply interested in Indian history and who would visit the site if they knew about it and its location."

Pictures and Celluloid Strips

"Yes, there have been numerous motion picture companies and individuals taking animal pictures here."

"One gentleman we toted around in the early days of '13 had no motion picture camera, just one of those old fangled contraptions about three feet square that he mounted on a tripod and then went into a stance under a voluminous black blanket. Every time we located the animal that he wanted he had to set up and monkey around under his tent and by that time the animal either got scared at the apparition or drifted away before he got set up. This kind of exasperated the temperamental gentleman and so he jumped on us and blamed the rude actions of the animals to our inefficiency as animal trainers. After some heated words we compromised and took him out on a hay rack. Here at least we thought he could keep his machine mounted and by staying under the blanket, right on the side of the rack and before we could holla he had taken one step too many—and over the side went camera, man and blanket right onto the old bull's pile of hay. Buffalo bull left pronto snorting his indignation. Would you believe it? but that old photographer swore that we had done it on purpose and when we asked him to send us a picture his language, for a professional man, was scandalous."

Later the "Baron" paid us a visit with what I believe was the first movie camera in the Park. He got some pictures but met considerable hard luck too. Once the team ran away and split him and his gear into a snowbank. Then the sleighs hit a stump and got wrecked some miles out in the Park and he darn near froze, but he was quite dignified through it all and went away happy. Then a New York sportsman came. He had been hunting and taking pictures in the Rockies and north country and learning that the Parks Branch were killing off a few old crippled bulls obtained permission from the Department to film the action, so the fun started. We were to be "real" cowboys at last. He insisted that we wear Stetson hats. That was O.K. so we dug 'em up; we had already put them away for the winter; anyway a chinook was blowing and it was a real mild for December. So the day passed with us escorting the cameraman around and quite proud of ourselves. The next morning dawned cold and clear, about 15 below and our troubles began. Stetson hats and sub-zero weather don't go together and soon our "phizogs" were permanently spoiled for close-ups and our ears were frozen stiff. The cameraman sure earned his money too as the films in his camera kept breaking, due to the cold and he had to work with bare fingers. He sure did some talking and wished himself back in sunny California."

The New Yorker (who was playing the hero role) ran into hard luck too and had a scare thrown into him he hasn't got out of his system yet. He had brought along a new high-power bolt action rifle that was supposed to put the stop signal on a grizzly.

Now the scene he wanted was for us to see the condemned buffalo bull down through an opening in the brush where he had the camera camouflaged and when the bull was in the right position Mr. Man was to step out and drop him in his tracks. Quite a scene of the intrepid hunter doing his stuff, you will admit. It would have been a great picture too if it had worked. We got the bull buffalo headed in the right direction, about a ton of real live buffalo meat went tearing down through the grass. The hero stepped out with his trusty rifle and we saw it go to his shoulder and expected to hear it explode. Instead we saw the fluffy animal do a noisy dive into the brush and snowbanks as the buffalo with a snort just missed the seat of his pants and travelled right through and over the 300-ton. What was wrong? Oh, the oil in the bolt action rifle had stiffened up in the cold and the firing pin wouldn't work. A close call! You said it. That is what the New Yorker said too, as we dug him out of the snowbank.

Then in 1912 we had another movie outfit up from California. They wanted large numbers of buffalo on the move. We told them they would have to camouflage their camera if they wanted us to drift the buffalo herd past, but it was no use arguing. They parked seven cars, three cameras and about twenty people on a small butte and wanted us to drive the herd past that. There were about two thousand head of buffalo grazing on the flats a mile or so away and I knew just about what would happen when we started them up and they saw all the commotion ahead of them. Anyway orders were orders, so we got behind the herd and started them towards the cameras. They ambled along great until within about half a mile of where the cameras and cars were standing clear out against the sky line. Then "Wood!" The herd busted and scattered in every direction, and we told them that if they set their that day's work was done. Next morning cameras up at a certain valley we could drift a herd of buffalo past them. The riders and camera party separated, the former out after the buffalo herd and the latter to the location where they were to set up and be all ready by a specified time.

The riders circled and gathered up approximately two thousand head and at the appointed time started them down the valley on the high slope. The brutes were hopping along great and with a lake on one side and flank riders on the other we were rolling down the valley towards the cameras in what should have been a wonderful picture but it was just at this stage of the game that we got the highball from the camera location a quarter of a mile ahead to STOP THE BUFFALO!—the cameras were not ready! That director thought he was back on the lot in Hollywood and even though he gave the stop sign and did on intricate dance on the hill, he was no Joshua and the buffalo rammed right on through and disappeared into the distant hills. An other day ruined and no films. Even the riders were sore as the director blamed them for not stopping the herd when he gave the signal.

In recent years we have had a number of real movie outfits equipped with modern machines so that today the public should be able to see the buffalo roaming in their natural haunts. Summer and winter scenes, corraling and shipping operations etc., which I imagine should be interesting to those who would otherwise never have an opportunity of seeing Canada's huge buffalo herd in action.

One of the outstanding characters that film has made us acquainted with, one who through his genial personality and sheer nerve that he has shown in getting his pictures under the most trying and dangerous situations has endeared himself to the Buffalo Park riders, is the Fox News representative, Ed Oliver. A round-up without him and his camera "Just ain't no round-up stall," the riders say.

BUYING HINTS FOR HOUSE WIVES

Use your head when buying. If you do this you will not have to use your pocketbook so much.

Many foods are far more reasonable in price at certain seasons of the year than they are at others. Usually these foods are not absolutely essential and the thrifty housewife sees to it that she buys less when the prices are high.

Other foods may be high or low at the same time. This may seem rather antiquated but take oranges for example. At the present time you might be asked to pay a fairly high price for very large oranges due to the fact that the recent crop of oranges is not running to large sizes. At the same time small and medium size oranges are selling at very low prices. The wise housewife who purchases two dozen of these smaller oranges rather than one dozen of the very large ones, will probably find in practically every case that she is getting more pounds per dollar. Furthermore the flavor of her fruit will be just as good.

MEAL TICKET

BY FRED LAPE

Nancy Ware never spoke of Lott's Ware at Surrey. Being neither of Lott's breed or of Lott's sort, she did not consider it necessary to rake the disagreeable facts of her childhood out of the past. She was 22. She had taken care of herself for ten years. Her flaming red hair and her vivid amber eyes were better assets than family.

At Surrey she met John Durret, 3d. They were in the Cosmos Show together. Nancy didn't like the way John tried to act.

"Be yourself!" she said. "Then you will get over big."

John Durret said sarcastically, "Thanks!"

"Ever think of going into vaudeville?" Nancy asked.

"Don't be funny!"

"I'm not being funny. But you are. You've got a vaudeville presence—when you don't try to act like Barrymore."

She got the echo of that the next time she went out with one of John's fraternity brothers.

"Say, what have you been telling John Durret about having a vaudeville presence? You've got him headed for the stage already."

"Well, he might make a go of it."

"Yes, but what do you think Mrs. Alonso Durret would have to say about it?"

"I hadn't thought of that."

"Neither had John. But Virginia is giving him an earful of it!"

"Virginia?"

"Virginia Harris, that blonde high hat he runs around with."

"Oh, yes, I know her."

"The future Mrs. John Durret, 3d. I suppose. Mrs. Alonso's choice."

"Mrs. Alonso rather runs John's life, doesn't she?"

"Runs it—or ruins it! Well, she's got the money."

"And so, I take it, has Virginia."

"Naturally."

Mrs. Alonso Durret and Virginia Harris notwithstanding, John came back to Nancy to find more about the vaudeville presence. Instead, he found more about Nancy Ware. He fell in love with her. Nancy let herself fall in love with him.

They planned splendid things. After college they would go into an act together. They would take the country by storm. They would make Broadway. They saw life as a series of light-flooded stages with enthusiastic audiences worshipping them.

In the moments when reality crept through the glamor of Nancy's dream, she would bury her face with a frightened gesture on John's shoulder and whisper:

"You do love me, don't you, John?"

"Forever and ever."

All this was before that night in February when they went to the local vaudeville show and sat in the second row.

The butt of the jokes that night was a fat toe-dancer in the third act. She was old, she was bleached, she was worn. She might have danced once, but her dancing days were over. The audience told her so.

John was in guffaws of laughter but Nancy did not smile. John looked at her quickly.

"Matter? Think we'll come to that?"

She shook her head, her lips drawn in between her teeth. "I want to get out of here," she said.

Without waiting for his answer, she drew her coat around her shoulders and started up the aisle. She started up the aisle. She heard him trailing behind her.

She had not been quick enough. In the lobby she was hailed by a bizarre figure in dancing tights, half-covered by a worn cloak. Her face was old and painted, her hair bleached, her lips drawn down at the corners.

"Nancy—little Nancy!" she said. Her voice was coarse. She had been drinking a little. "I knew you. The minute I looked down I says to myself, 'That's Nancy's red hair or you are a pickled goose!'"

"Yes," said Nancy dryly. "I know you too."

"Your boy friend?" said the woman looking at John.

Nancy turned to John. There was a grim curve to her lips. "Mr. John Durret—Lott's Ware, my stepmother."

John gulped and said: "Oh!" He took the fat hand eagerly thrust at him.

"I've always thought of little Nancy as my own child," gushed Lott's Ware.

Nancy took John aside. "Please leave me alone with her," she said. "Now you know the truth about me. You would have had to know it some time. Do you think you can stand it?"

He said glibly, "Of course. What shall I do?"

"Come to my house—in an hour—if you still want to, after you have had time to think about it."

"Don't be silly. Of course I'll come."

Lottie came to her as she went out of the lobby. At the exit Nancy saw him turn back and give one swift appraising glance at her and at Lott's Ware's fat arm around her waist.

She thought: "This is the test. Heaven make him stand it!"

"You don't seem glad to see me," Lottie was complaining.

"Let's get out of this lobby," Nancy said.

Lottie took her to her dressing room. "You don't seem glad to see me," she said again.

"Why should I be?" Nancy demanded.

EVERYONE CAN HELP

"Beautifying our home grounds and making Canada more beautiful" is the slogan which has been adopted by the national committee for the campaign now being conducted by the Canadian Horticultural Council and in this everyone can help.

The more you think it over the more you feel the force and appeal of this slogan. You can do your bit alongside your neighbor and the thousands of others who own homes throughout the Dominion and really make them for attractive, more beautiful and more homelike through the proper planning and planting of trees, shrubs, perennials and flowers.

To assist in the practical carrying out of such a campaign on a national basis the Horticultural Council have taken the initiative at considerable expense in having a landscape architect of outstanding reputation and experience with Canadian conditions prepare a book dealing adequately and in an essentially practical manner with the subject of beautifying the home grounds. This book containing 87 pages, is now available for distribution through the Horticultural Council and through the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa. Not only is it profusely illustrated but many diagrams helpful in planning practical development in ornamental horticulture, are included. In addition a glossary of trees, shrubs and herbaceous perennials suitable for planting in different parts of Canada is included. All the plants mentioned in the book can be purchased from Canadian sources, at once assuring a greater measure of success in planting and material assistance to the horticultural industry in Canada.

This book may be obtained at a price of twenty-five cents on application to the Publications Branch of the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, or to the Canadian Horticultural Council. Discount is available for the benefit of schools and societies desirous of purchasing copies in quantity.

Each year sees a marked development in an essentially Canadian type of ornamental horticulture and in beautifying your home grounds you are really helping to make Canada more beautiful.

VEGREVILLE OBSERVER 25th ANNIVERSARY NUMBER

A regular galaxy of past and present leading lights as well as a large number of the town's most prominent buildings, features the 25th anniversary number of The Vegreville Observer, which reached our desk this week.

The whole of the 26-page special edition is replete with a complete history of the town of Vegreville, its citizens, its office bearers (excuse us—its burden bearers!), etc., and truly reflects credit upon the efforts of that old war-horse of Alberta weekly newspaper, our old friend "Al" Horton, whose "physiognomy" under the caption of "The Boss" continues him to be still capable of showing in harness till the occasion of the "golden wedding" number.

Congratulations, "Al," may your shadow never grow less, and your efforts on behalf of your community never weaken, nor the support extended to therein never diminish!

Then—"Here's a han' my trusty friend," etc., etc., and all that!—W. H.

WILL BROADCAST ARRIVAL OF GOVERNOR-GENERAL

The arrival of the new Governor-General, the Earl of Bessborough, and his welcome to the Dominion will be broadcast direct from the pier at Halifax to all corners of Canada, according to arrangements which have been made by E. A. Weir, director of radio for the Canadian National System. The Vice-Royal party will arrive in port at 10 a.m. April 4th, and will be met by the Prime Minister and Secretary of State. They will come ashore at 11 o'clock and there will be a reception of about an hour's duration on the pier, when the inspection of the Guard of Honor and other formalities will be broadcast.

The swearing in ceremony will be broadcast from the Legislative Building at noon. The whole historic event will be carried into all the provinces by a network of Canadian National Telegraphs with Canadian National and associated stations linked up from sea to sea.

C. N. TELEGRAPHS OPEN FIVE-CHANNEL SYSTEM

The Canadian National Telegraph last week placed a five channel carrier telegraph system in operation between Toronto and Windsor, marking the first appearance of such a system in the telegraph world. Its outstanding characteristic is that it operates over long sections of line without use of manual relays and can work direct up to 500 miles. It is particularly applicable to the Windsor area since it is constructed to overcome the fog belt trouble of Southwestern Ontario. This new Toronto-Windsor link now gives the Canadian National Telegraphs in excess of 60,000 duplex channel miles of carrier current telegraph, a new high mark for Canada.

WILLIAM JOHN WILEY

Death visited the home of one of the first-comers to this district last Friday and removed Mr. William John Wiley, one of the pioneer farmers of Paradise Valley, at the age of 66 years.

The deceased has been in poor health for the past year, but the end came suddenly and he passed away in about an hour.

He leaves to mourn in addition to his widow, one daughter, Mrs. James McLeod, of Winnipeg, daughter-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. McLeod, of Wainwright, and one son, Francis, who is still on the farm. Four brothers also are bereaved, these being Steven (Milwaukee), Thomas (Marmora, Ont.), Charles (Ellenburgh, N. Y.), and Robert (Toronto), to all of whom the sympathy of a large circle of friends and acquaintances is extended.

The late Mr. Wiley, who was born in Marmora, Ontario, was married in the province, and came to Paradise Valley in 1907, after spending ten years in Toledo, Ohio. He was greatly loved and respected by all who came to know him.

THE FUNERAL took place on Sunday afternoon last, the first portion of the rites being taken by the pastor at the United Church at Orville, and the interment at Orville cemetery where the rites peculiar to the Masonic order were conducted by a large number of brothers of that organization from Edgerton lodge of which deceased was a member.

The pallbearers were Messrs S. Fawcett, C. Rogers, E. Ripley, F. Mitchell and T. Basley, and floral tributes were placed on the coffin from The Family, wreaths: David, Elmer and Irwin, wreaths: Orville L.A. spray: Arnold and Mary, spray: Edgerton A. F. & A. M., wreaths: and others. (Interested papers please copy)

WOMEN'S MISSIONARY SOCIETY ANNUAL MEET.

UNITED PRESBYTERY HOLDS YEARLY MEET IMPORTANT BRANCH OF CHURCH

The annual meeting of the Wainwright presbytery of the W.M.S. of the United Church was held in Irma United Church on March 12 and 13.

The first session opened with Mrs. Thorsley, the president in the chair. Delegates from outside points were: Tofteld, Mrs. Frith, Mrs. Swift, Mrs. Cookson; Ryley, Mrs. Thorsley, Dr. Lagerquist; Holden, Mrs. McPherson; Wainwright, Mrs. Huston, Mrs. Hackett and Mrs. Thomas.

Devotional exercises were taken and Mrs. Shaw gave a most cordial address of welcome to which Mrs. Frith of Tofteld replied on behalf of the delegates.

Reports of secretary and treasurer show a successful although strenuous year. It was gratifying, too, that the allocation had been met. Reports from secretaries of departments also showed that a great amount of work had been undertaken and accomplished by auxiliaries and mission bands. Reports were given by five auxiliaries, viz: Tofteld, Ryley, Holden, Irma and Wainwright, also four mission bands.

The president Mrs. Thorsley gave an address and Mrs. McPherson, Holden, read a very interesting paper on Japan. Mrs. Cookson, Tofteld, read a paper on our women's work in Canada.

Mrs. Higginson of the Irma Anglican auxiliary brought greetings from that organization, after which all repaired to the banquet room where a most bountiful repast was spread by the ladies of Irma auxiliary.

The evening session opened at eight o'clock in devotional services led by Mrs. Thorsley and Mrs. McPherson, and greetings were brought from Wainwright presbytery by Rev. Mr. Geeson. During his remarks Mr. Geeson said, "Our Christianity is not worthy of us if it is lacking in missionary spirit."

A very beautiful and impressive memorial service for the late Mrs. Gordon of Tofteld, was taken by the ladies of the Tofteld auxiliary led by Mrs. Frith. The Irma Mission Band gave a pleasing title pageant entitled "Just Suppose" and Mrs. White of Irma gave a beautiful message in song.

Dr. Lagerquist, the speaker of the evening, gave a very interesting talk on China and closed with a strong appeal to send out more workers to the field already white to harvest.

The Friday morning session opened with devotional services by Wainwright auxiliary led by Mrs. Huston. Mrs. Hackett, and Mrs. Thomas. High spots in the years work was taken up by each auxiliary. The visit of Miss Jamieson from the Dominion board was the outstanding event to those who were so fortunate as to secure her. The World's day of Prayer was observed by several 98 per cent of success was due to hard work. The long pull, the strong pull, and steady pull together makes for success.

Advice

ADVICE is a great thing. It is about the only thing in this great, wide world that may be obtained absolutely free—if you don't go to a lawyer for it. In fact, it is often thrust upon us "without money and without price." It comes from all points of the compass and sometimes with such fervor, especially if we have been so unfortunate as to run into a bit of a business cul-de-sac, as to produce the feeling that the giver would willingly pay substantially for the foolishness to take it.

"Dear, oh dear! Don't cut the baby's finger nails, or if you do, says a well meaning old lady friend, 'he'll grow up to be a thief.' 'Don't wean 'em, for goodness sake,' says an emaciated old spinster, 'or, if you do, he'll die sure.' And then Mrs. Bunk comes to see the wife and to inquire how the new ten-pounder is progressing. 'Ah,' she says, 'let 'em eat whatever he wants. If you don't and if he don't get a taste for everything, he won't be able to buy these things when he grows up.' 'The first thing I thought when my first baby came,' said old Mrs. Sill, 'was to tell the nurse to climb up on a chair and hold 'em up, up, high over her head,' and then she continued most confidentially: 'Never let your baby go down first. If you do he'll never be able to rise in the world. Look at my first boy, now. He's second foreman of the garbage gang.'"

There seems to be but few exceptions to this free advice formula. Take the farmer, for instance, he is passing through a bit of tough luck just now and a lot of people think that the reason may be found in the lack of direction. They rush to the rescue with all kinds of advice as to how this highly technical business should be conducted, and they offer it as freely as the air you breathe. "Cut down the acreage," says one. "Increase the size of the farm," says another, "and put your operations on a commercial basis." And again, "Raise more hogs and cattle." "Get some turkeys and geese." "Develop mixed farming." "Cut the cost of production," and so on and on ad infinitum.

Maybe that all of this and a lot more is good stuff. We don't know. Probably the best advice after all is that of the practical expert who has made a success in his own particular line of business—the doctor in his, the lawyer in his, the engineer in his, the manufacturer in his, the merchant in his, the farmer in his, and so on and on again. This, however, seems to be the idea behind the big Exhibition and Conference to take place at Regina, Canada, in 1932. At any rate it promises to be the greatest gathering of experienced agriculturalists and technical experts ever held anywhere at any time.

DISTRICT CORRESPONDENTS

It may be that the country correspondents of a weekly newspaper are not sensible of the service they are rendering the community in which they live. Week in and week out, they contribute their budget of news which is the mirror of the daily happenings in their circle of activity. Without the correspondents' weekly news that paper would be like a dinner with the dishes left out and the community like a church service with the choir on holidays.

Not only the citizens in the town where the paper is published find interest in the doings of their country cousins but also every resident in the hamlet or village from where the budget comes is a devout consumer of the weekly news. Every little happening has its human interest. The arrival of the first born, the marriage of a popular couple, the passing of a pioneer, the home coming of a favorite son or daughter, the coming or going of visitors the little incidents from week to week which perhaps have no outside bearing are all of vital moments and are important factors in the life of the community. Therefore let us have more country correspondence—Exchange.

A SYMPOSIUM BY INTERESTING PEOPLE OF TODAY
CONDUCTED BY WILLIAM A. LEWIN

To select a suitable name for each new baby that comes into the world is indeed an absorbing problem. Nearly 2,000,000 new babies were born last year. And yet there are less than 1,000 names to choose from. Parents search long and hard for suggestions. Shall we create some interesting new names?

JONATHAN is a name of Hebrew origin meaning "Lord's gift." It is a name which was applied to the Confederate soldiers in the Civil War days. Jonathan Swift was a famous Eighteenth Century British satirist. ELIMINATION OF BODY

There are two sources of body waste, one of which consists of the undigested portions of the blood we use, and the other, of the substances given off by the body cells as a result of their activities.

Whenever work is done, there is some waste, as, for example, when coal is used to produce heat or power, ashes are left over.

Food which is taken into the body goes through the process of digestion. From our food we secure the energy we need in order to keep warm and to do our work. Our food also supplies us with the materials our bodies require for growth and for keeping the body cells in repair.

In our food, as we use it, there are parts which cannot be digested and made use of by the body. They may remain as undigested waste material, and as such, pass along the intestinal tract and are eliminated, at intervals, by the body.

This waste material does not serve as food, but it is needed to stimulate the intestinal tract to move its contents through the tract. It would not do to use only highly-concentrated foods with little or no waste. We require to use foods such as green vegetables which leave such waste. As the body does its work, the cells give off their waste products. One of these waste products is the carbon dioxide given off by the lungs. The blood carries the carbon dioxide gas to the lungs, where oxygen is taken up by the blood in its place. The blood stream then carries the oxygen to the body cells.

The other waste products of cell work and life are also carried away from the cells by the blood stream. The kidneys remove most of such waste material from the blood.

Elimination of body waste is a regular, normal function of the body. If, however, too heavy a burden is thrown on the organs which take care of such elimination, they are apt to break down, or, at least, to wear out sooner than they should.

The need for reasonable care in the selection of food has often been pointed out. The use of proper foods in proper amounts aids in elimination and at the same time, does not overburden the organs concerned. The use of sufficient water—a glass or two before breakfast and between each meal—is another way of helping elimination and preserving the health of the body. Above all else, regularity in habit will assure proper elimination from the intestinal tract.

Questions concerning Health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College St., Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

KEEPS FRUITS FRESH

Some interesting observation with respect to the application of "quick freezing processes" to perishable fresh fruits and vegetables is contained in the current newsletter of the Dominion Cold Storage Branch. Tests recently made with peaches show that the process preserves all the original nutritive values and minerals, with no evidence of loss of valuable chemical constituents or flavour. The process seems to keep the fruit absolutely fresh, in fact, 40 out of 42 "tasting tests" reported the "frozen" peaches more juicy, sweeter and better flavour than that of "fresh" peaches.

In British Columbia experiments are being made in the "rapid freezing" of green peas in small cartons. These peas will be held in storage at a temperature of 35° F. below zero until marketed next winter.

REFRESHING EATS FOR THIS WEEK

(BY BETTY BARCLAY)

FRUIT MEAL SALAD

From lettuce head cut a slice 1/4 inch thick. Put on a salad plate and center with a mound of cottage cheese. Around this at an equal distance arrange in cross formation 4 pies of orange segments. Allow 1 medium or 2 small oranges to a serving. In spaces between orange segments, place 5 walnuts (in first space), 1 dessert spoon seeded raisins (in second space), 6 almonds (in third space), 5 dates (in fourth space). Serve with a sweet French dressing.

How Much Do You Know?

1. The granting of more self-government to India.
2. The Chinese empress, Hsiao, who lived 2,000 years before Christ.
3. The Sydney Harbor Bridge in Australia. It cost $24,000,000.
4. "In His Steps" by Charles M. Sheldon.
5. It has fallen from $1.25 to 25c an ounce.
6. Those inhabiting the mouth of the Hoogly River, below Calcutta.

8. He makes three cuts on one piece, releasing three links. He now has only four pieces to be joined up and the three necessary connecting links are at hand. Thus three cuts and three welds represent the mini-mum labor.
9. Calgarg. It had 188 hours of sunshine during January.
10. "Peter Ibbotson" It is partly in French, partly in English. Its world premiere took place this winter at the Metropolitan Opera House, New York.

AUTOMOBILE INDUSTRY

IS BIGGEST

Interesting figures which demonstrate conclusively how important the motor industry is to the United States, and similarly, to Canada, are revealed in a recent summary made by a leading manufacturer. The automobile business, it declares, consumes the following portions of other products: steel, 18 per cent; gasoline, 80 per cent; plate glass, 73 per cent; nickel, 23 per cent; lead, 31 per cent; upholstery leather, 58 per cent; hardwood lumber, 17 per cent; aluminum, 37 per cent; copper, 15 per cent; tin, 23 per cent; zinc, 5 per cent; jacquards, 18,000,000 gallons; asbestos, 165,000,000 feet; anti-freeze, 43,000,000 gallons. One out of every ten workers gets his living directly or indirectly from the automobile industry. The automobile dollar is worth twice that of the cost-of-living dollar in terms of the 1914 dollar. The automobile dollar today is worth 122 pre-war cents as compared with a cost-of-living dollar, worth only 65 cents.

News has leaked out that Mr Ricker is installing machinery which will give him an electrically equipped flour mill. He has purchased a 100-h.p. engine and generator. This will obviate the trouble complained of some time ago regarding the muffling of his big gas engine. It sure is another boost for a local industry and the machinery is expected at the end of this week.

ANGELICAN CHURCH
IRISH STEW SUPPER
VERY SUCCESSFUL

The ladies connected with the W.A. of St Thomas' church, can well take pride in the result of their efforts which were consummated in the very successful "Irish Stew" supper which was held last week in the I.O.O.F. hall.

Practically from the time that the first meals were served till the closing a steady stream of "the hungry" wended their way to the hall and the workers were kept busy indeed.

The table decorations carried out in green and white (emblematic of St. Patrick) and favorable comments on the whole affair were voiced in no uncertain manner.

Although the full total receipts are not yet known, the ladies concerned were all well pleased with the financial returns from the affair.

Mr and Mrs Charlie Newport, who are living at the coast, were given a surprise party recently on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary, and among those present were the following former Wainwright friends: Mr and Mrs G. Davey, Mr and Mrs J. Law, Mr and Mrs A. E. Miller, Mr Billy Miller, Mr and Mrs Jim Moffat, Mr W. White, Johnny and Bill Moffat, Gladys White Weber, Jack Kelly and Dave Hansen. A flower basket filled with carnations and a silver cake basket to match were the gifts of the "surprisers!"

 Silence may be golden—but not in our business! Because we want you to know that we are headquarters for paint, wall paper, conk, lumber, etc., and that we have reduced prices so that it will pay you to buy material from us, now and get your work done while labor is plentiful and cheap—Atlas Lumber Co.

On account of trouble on Saturday last in the mountains west of Edmonton, Sunday's east bound flies arrived here at 11 p.m. instead of 11 a.m.

We learn that Mrs H. Courcier, who has been confined to the house with a severe cold and throat trouble is feeling somewhat better now.

There is a strong demand for work horses, possibly on account of the financial depression which restricts the gasoline purchases and the plentitude of feed. To this end Dr. S. Wiley left last week with another carload of horses for the eastern market.

Messrs Sherman and Macdonald, superintendents of the Calgary Power Co. were in town last week end checking up matters of importance to their respective departments.

 John Watson, a well-to-do farmer, drove his family to a nearby city to shop and see a show. His car skidded on a wet pavement and struck a lady crossing the street. He was sued for damages which he contested through three courts and was finally acquitted but the litigation cost him $15,000, which with the loss of his time from his farm work caused the sacrifice of his property, and left him, at 52, practically penniless. Had he carried liability auto insurance at a cost of $13 a year, the insurance company would have contested this and paid for all legal actions. Joe Welch specializes in car insurance. Phone 57.

Miss Mary Fish, of the Bank of Montreal, staff at Chauvin is home here with her parents for her annual vacation.

 Fire insurance is cheaper now than it has ever been; so even if wheat is low in price you should keep your premiums paid. It is surely false economy to save $10 on insurance protection and lose thousands by fire, when money is scarce and credit restricted; and when it might be impossible to replace any property destroyed. The fire insurance companies realize the scarcity of money and are anxious to help you. See Joe Welch, phone 57 and 93.
